

Phenomenon: The Medicalization of Women's Experiences

Pattern: Assumption of Female Weakness

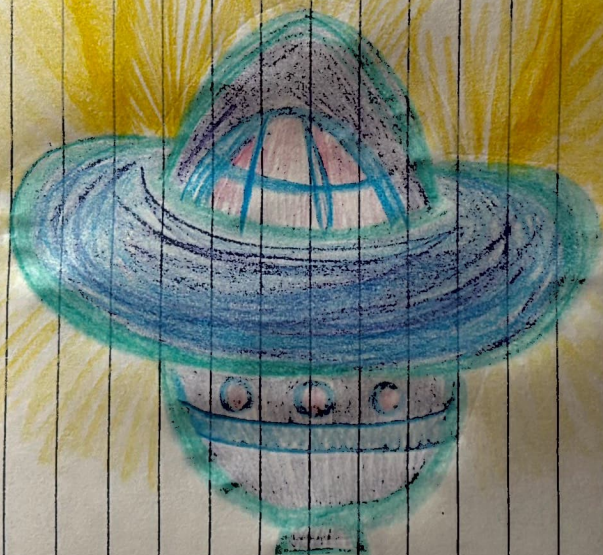

- women are only portrayed as housewives, mothers, & happy-go-lucky characters who need saving
- Throughout my education I have encountered many people who use an assumption of female weakness to underestimate me & my female classmates

Inquiry question - How does the casual use of language implying emotional & mental

Pattern:

Denial of Symptoms & Patient Needs: women?

- women's voices are often not truly heard when trying to explain what they need or how they feel
- Although I have never personally struggled with a serious mental health disorder, I played varsity sports all throughout high school & experienced mental burnout. This was pushed to the side while boys got to sit out for the same reasons

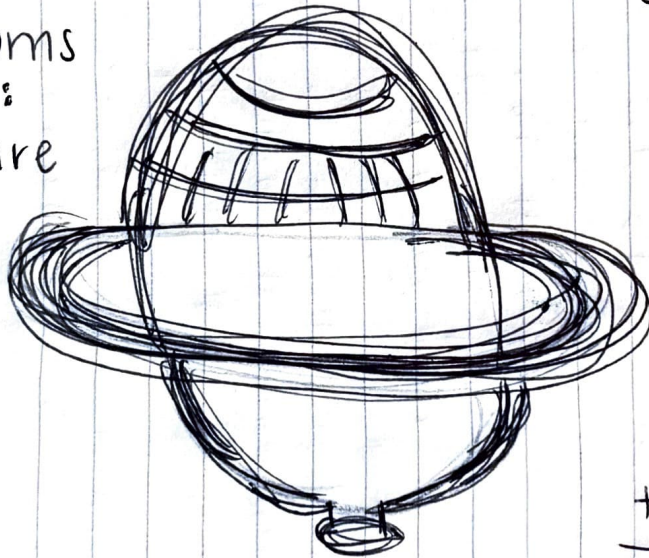

Pattern: Women's mental healthcare is centered around how companies can make the most money

- many women are prescribed medicine that they don't actually need because the sales of the drugs are more important than the actual needs of the patient

Inquiry question - How many women are misdiagnosed w/ mental health disorders per year?

Denial of symptoms & Patient Needs:

- women's voices are often not heard when trying to explain what they need or how they truly feel
- Although I have never struggled with any serious mental health disorder, I played varsity sports all throughout high school ~~and~~ & experienced burnout mentally & physically. This was pushed to the side but I remember thinking the boys team didn't have to compete for the same reasons.

Assumption of Female
Pattern: women weakness are only portrayed as housewives, struggling mothers or happy go lucky characters who don't have any real reason to be sad

Centered around how to make the most money

- many women are prescribed medicine they may not need because the sales of the drugs are more important than the actual needs of the patient

Pattern: Assumption of Female Weakness

- women are only portrayed as housewives, mothers, & happy-go-lucky characters who need saving
- Throughout my education I have encountered many people who use an assumption of female weakness to underestimate me & my female classmates

Inquiry question-
How does the casual use of language implying emotional & mental fragility affect a society's attitude towards women?

Denial of Symptoms & Patient Needs:

- women's voices are often not truly heard when trying to explain what they need or how they feel
- Although I have never personally struggled with a serious mental health disorder, I played varsity sports all throughout high school & experienced mental burn out. This was pushed to the side while boys got to sit out for the same reasons

Phenomenon: The Medicalization of Women's Experiences

→ Pattern: Women's mental healthcare is centered around how companies can make the most money

- many women are prescribed medicine that they don't actually need because the sales of the drugs are more important than the actual needs of the patient

Inquiry question-
How many women are misdiagnosed w/ mental health disorders per year?

Potential Cultural Artifact:
Wellness influencers & "Cortisol Balancing" Tiktoks